2024-2025 Ad Planning Guide

Economic Impact:

- A national economic source reports that the nation's Black buying power is on the rise from $1.1 trillion in 2017 to over $1.5 trillion in 2021.
- The economic Impact of African American LEISURE Travelers is $63 Billion. It is estimated that an additional $9 billion is spent for Meetings, Conferences and Conventions.
- Brandweek reports that Black households making 75,000-plus have increased 47% in the last five years, 1.5 times faster than that of the general population.

National Media Research:

- Magazines are the strongest media contributor to ROI regardless of budget, category, position, seasonality, and brand longevity.
- U.S. media polls indicate that half (50%) of magazine readers took action on ads and/or had a more favorable opinion about the advertiser.
- According to a survey by the American Business Press, 75% of business and professional respondents said that specialized business publications were the most useful in providing information about products and services they purchase for their companies.

Market, Patterns, Trends:

- Compared to travelers overall, nearly three times as many African-American trips involve group tours (8% vs. 3%)
- Over 83% of African-Americans surveyed reported attending annual or biennial Family Reunions
- In one study, over 69% of African-Americans surveyed, reported visiting a heritage site or museum and/or attending a cultural event during their last travel experience.
- African-American conference attendees have a tendency to arrive a few days early or stay a few days late in order to combine a convention trip with a family vacation.

Market Overview:

- African-Americans represent upwards of 13.4 % of the U.S. population or approximately 43.4 million.
- According to Brandweek magazine, African Americans are nearly six years younger than all consumers, with 47% between ages 18-49, making them part of the top-spending demographic.

Rationale:

- Based on current economic research, the buying power of minorities and the difference in spending by race and/or ethnicity suggests that one general advertisement, product, or service geared for all consumers, increasingly misses many potentially profitable marketing opportunities.
- Successful business principles indicate that as the U.S. consumer market becomes more diverse, advertising, products, and media must be tailored more specifically to address targeted market segments.
